Pacts Loom On 2 Jobs For Wasatch

Special to The Tribune

HEBER CITY — Contracts for two major Wasatch County facilities will be awarded soon, Wasatch County commissioners have announced.

Bids have been opened for construction of the Wasatch County Courthouse and a new county hospital totaling approximately $935,300.

The Richard Miller Construction Co. of American Fork was low bidder on the courthouse with a bid of $299,872.

Hospital Low Bid

Iverson Construction Co. of Salt Lake was low bidder for construction of a new hospital with a bid of $635,300.

Contracts on the courthouse are expected to be awarded within the next 10 days, pending a meeting with the Utah State Civil Defense Agency on providing adequate fallout protection in the new building.

The hospital contract first must be approved by the federal government due to its providing approximately 50 per cent of costs from funds under the Hill-Burton Act, before actual awarding of the contract can be made.

Demolition of ancient Wasatch County Courthouse is rapidly nearing completion. As soon as the raz-ing is complete, work is expected to begin on a new structure which will cost nearly $300,000.
